

Yachats Trails

Yachats is known the world over for its spectacular beauty and diversity. Hiking trails are a great way to experience the richness of temperate rainforests and the drama of the Pacific Ocean shoreline. Look for the trail posts pictured above to assist you.

Some of Yachats' more popular trails include:

- 1. Amanda Trail: A moderate hike from the north trailhead on Yachats Ocean Road, south to the Amanda statue features panoramic ocean views and lush coastal woodland. Continuing south from the statue the trail is a strenuous climb to the summit of Cape Perpetua. Dedicated in memory of Amanda, a blind Coos woman who suffered injustices during 1860s' reservation years. <http://.yachats.info/history>
- 2. Historic 804 Trail: From the sandy beach at the north end of Yachats, south to Smelt Sands State Park and Yachats State Park, this oceanfront trail provides expansive ocean vistas and access to tide pools and pebbled coves. Portions of the trail are wheelchair accessible. Easy walking.
- 3. Ya'Xaik (yäh' khik) Trail: Beginning at the east end of Diversity Lane in North Yachats, the trail traverses lush second growth forest and links at the north end to the Gerdemann Botanic Preserve's public footpath. A moderate mile plus loop, some steps and elevation change.
- 4. Gerdemann Botanic Preserve's Public Footpath: In North Yachats, a public footpath on private property offers a magical walk along a creek with big-leaf rhododendrons sheltered under a canopy of coastal woodland: narrow path with steps.
